

Dear Sirs;

The Telephone Consumer Protection Act has been a blessing in our house. During these fast paced times, dinner is the only time my family gets a chance to reconnect for the day. In the past, telemarketers infringed on our family time.

Please leave this law in place as it is and allow all families their private time that is so rare!

Thank you in advance for your concern.